

Spring is on the way!

Today's announcement that all remaining covid-related travel restrictions are to be scrapped for the United Kingdom is set to turbocharge bookings in 2022. With Easter just around the corner and summer on the horizon, we expect this year to be extremely busy. Early booking is recommended in order to guarantee your preferred dates, and there are still some great offers in place, especially for stays of three or more nights.

TRAVEL UPDATE

Good news! All remaining travel restrictions for the United Kingdom expire today, the 18th of March. Travellers will no longer be required to test, provide proof of vaccination or complete any additional forms. This final step means there are no covid-related restrictions in England, however some guidance around face coverings remains in effect in Scotland.
